

A letter from Ali to student leaders

Dear student organization leaders,

As a student leader myself, I understand how difficult all these changes have been for you. Between transitioning to online classes and maintaining strong organization connections, it has taken a new level of strength to continue this lifestyle virtually. I am beyond grateful that you're still willing to stay in these leadership roles and are trying to make the best of everything. As a fellow student leader and the VP of Business & Finance for SGC, I am here to support you and your needs as student organizations. I aim to provide a sense of relief in a time of such uncertainty.

Attached, I have outlined the procedural changes to the allocation of funding from SGC to student organizations for the remainder of the spring semester, and the fall funding process for the Fall 2020 semester.

In partnership with the Office of Student Engagement, SGC is looking to support organizations with holding virtual programming events. We would love to encourage everyone to find ways to connect as an organization and engage with the campus community. This may look different for each organization, so don't be afraid to be creative! If your organization has an idea for programming this semester, please fill out this form created by Mary Holland-Bavis and she will reach out about further info.

Stay healthy,
Ali Kelley
VP of Business & Finance
